

1. How vast the trea - sure, how sub - lime, a sweet ac -
2. It falls like Her - mon's cool - ing dew, when morn - ing

1. cord of soul and time, when breth - ren, in a ho - ly
2. skies are bright and new; it falls on Zi - on's sa - cred

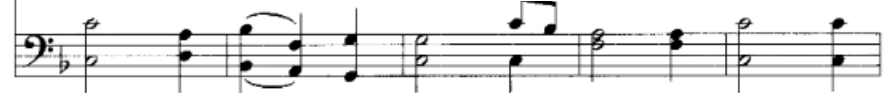

1. band, dwell un - di - vi - ded in the land! 'Tis
2. height, and bathes the moun - tain in de - light. For

1. like the oil on Aa - ron's head, which rich - ly
2. there the Lord of hosts com - mands the choic - est

1. o'er his beard was shed and tri - ckled down - ward
2. bless - ings of his hands, and prom - is - es a

1. to his chest, to bless the gar - ments he pos - sessed.
2. life di - vine, where peace and heav - 'nly glo - ry shine.

